Are you interested in doing scientific research in a state-of-the-art facility? If so, CSS wants you!

What is CSS?
College Science Scholars is a small, selected group of highly qualified undergraduates who have direct access to the very best laboratory research faculty and facilities the University has to offer. All participants have the opportunity to become a member of a research lab as early as their first year. In addition, each student receives individual attention from both the research faculty and from a senior faculty mentor.

Check out our website for more information, to see schedules of lecture series, and to hear what students have to say. www.web.virginia.edu/CSS/